OPEN MONDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS

RESIDENTS FIGHT PLAN TO EXTEND 86TH ST. CAR LINE

City Railways Company Would Lay Rails to the West of Central Park.

EAST SIDE DEMANDS IT.

But Property Owners Say Values Would Drop and City Lose in Taxes.

Application by the New York City Railways Company for a franchise to operate a surface electric railroad in West Eighty-sixth Street has stirred up property owners of that exclusive thoroughfare, where there are many costly residences. A preliminary hearing will be had before the Board of Estimate on Friday, Nov. 5.

The present Eighty-sixth Street cross-town railroad runs from East River across Central Park to Central Park West. The pending application provides for extension of that line two and one-half blocks, as far as Broadway. Between Broadway and Taverner Drive there still lie the tracks of a long since abandoned railway, which the city has condemned.
These tracks are to be taken up and that particular section of the street is not to be involved in the new line.
In its request for an extension, the railway company is opposed strongly by owners of private residences between Central Park West and Amsterdam Avenue. Strong pressure is being applied, however, by people living on the east side of the park who want an extended line because when they seek to go across town they are dumped down at the western side of the park and compelled to walk long blocks to Columbus Avenue or to Broadway. The Yorkville Association is urging the extension.

COMMITTEE FILES A PROTEST WITH ESTIMATE BOARD.

West Eighty-sixth Street has long been a park street and is lined with many beautiful and costly residences, whose owners strenuously object to the presence of the car line. They have formed a property owners' committee with Horace Saks as Chairman to protect their street. The committee says:

"If a franchise were granted for this proposed extension the result would be that the streets in question would be practically ruined. This is true both as regards private residences and as regards high class apartments. It is our belief that the fine residence streets of the city should be preserved intact. We are further convinced that the city would suffer serious loss in the depreciation of the property in question, and that the result of granting the franchise would be the ruin of one of the city's finest streets, a decrease in taxable value of property, with no practical benefit to the public."

the taxable property on this block would depreciate over a million dollars. It would seem that such being the case other streets should be reserved to such an extent as to be a submerged electric line."

The claims of the east side of the park as against the west side are championed by Leon R. Altman, of No. 47 East Eighty-sixth Street, who is Chairman of the Yorkville Association's Transit Committee.
"I have been working for this improvement for five years," said Mr.
Altman. "We who attempt to cross the park side are dumped out of the cars at the western side of the park and have a long walk ahead of us to reach Broadway. Traffic conditions at Central Park West and Eighty-sixth Street are much complicated and great inconvenience is put on the traveling public. I think the personal views of relatively a few persons should not interfere with the traveling public's convenience." In the new motor bus routes laid out by the city, lines across the park are provided at Eighty-fifth Street, Seventy-ninth Street and Ninety-sixth Street. Franchises for these routes have been recommended by the Board of Estimate's sub committee to be given to the New York Motor Bus Company as against the bid of the Fifth Avenue Coach Company, controlled by the Interborough Company, which also controls the New York Railways Company. The Eighty-sixth Street park transverse road is the only one to be without a motor bus, and the railway company now seeks to extend its rails through the exclusive western end of the street.

cription.' The 'Prescription' has been used more than the other. I began taking benefitted. It built me up and was of a Buy Auto Furs Now!

It is a fact that the Fur Garments listed below may be bought to-day for what the Skins alone will bring in the open market. This is a strong statement, but it is supported by indisputable facts.
Our stock of Auto Furs was purchased last June before Fashion had decreed that so many garments worn by women should be fur-embellished. That decree has boosted the price of fur pelts to such an extent that when we are compelled to go into the market to replenish our stock of Auto Furs to-day prices will be sadly reminiscent—for the wearers who delayed buying at Macy's.
We cannot urge too strongly the desirability of buying Auto Furs NOW.

Raccoon Coats

Our Coats of Natural Raccoon are cut in the standard sweep essential for comfortable automobile wear. The garments are wool-lined throughout, with Venetian or satin yokes and sleeves, according to the grade of the pelt out of which the Coat is made. The prices range from $54.75 to $196.00.

Black Manchurian Dog Coats

After carefully looking over the Coats of the fur in stock we called up a manufacturer and gave him an order for 100 more.
He refused the order, saying that he could make more money cutting up the dogskins he had on hand into trimmings for women's coats. The coats on hand are made of large skins, full auto sweep and wool-lined. $14.75 and $24.75.

Russian Calf Coats

These are very practical Coats made of the skin of a hardy animal from the bleak steppes of far-off Russia. Of course the skin insures warmth and service. The garments are cut on liberal lines, are all-wool lined, and are fashioned so stoutly that they should last until the wearers are tired of them.
Price, $24.75.

Lap Robes of Black Dog Skin

At the prices quoted these Robes, so necessary for comfort while automobiling in the cold days so close at hand, are remarkable value. The Robes are backed up with a good quality Kersey.
54 in. x 60 in., $10.75
54 in. x 72 in., $14.75
54 in. x 84 in., $19.75
